

Railsafety Joins the Law Offices of Martin E. Jackson Peter Mortaro is pleased to announce to our readers we have joined forces with the Law Offices of Martin E. Jackson to better represent railroad workers in their fight for safety. Martin E. Jackson has represented railroad workers in claims arising under the Federal Employers' Liability Act (FELA) for many years in many states. The law firm is dedicated to serving the men and women of the railroad industry and assisting labor organization in protecting railroad workers' legal rights. Our association with the Law Offices of Martin E. Jackson will allow us to increase our activities in providing railroad workers with legal information and assistance concerning their rights under FELA, as well as the Railroad Retirement Act. We look forward to serving our current clients, making new friends, and providing information to our readers.

For more information please contact us at 1-800-376-0538